

I strongly urge you to not relax the rules on media ownership. We already have a near monopoly situation when the seven largest cable operators control more than 70% of the market. Rates for cable have risen, not been reduced. ¶The large operators do not present a balanced report on what is really happening in the world: the Iraq war is an example. The air waves belong to the people--how are the people going to be able to find truth if media control becomes further monopolized?
